

We are committed to our local communities within which we operate in Zambia, Malawi, and Zimbabwe, along with the sustainability of conservation initiatives. Due to the pandemic and lack of international travel, we find ourselves requiring support to aid both our communities and conservation.

#SafariDreaming is born

In April we set out to create some positive vibes through our campaign #SafariDreaming, where we invited our past guests to share their fondest RPS memories with us in an effort to keep the African dream alive.

The response was incredible, and this got us thinking further... Here was a chance to lift more spirits.

We collated all the stories, beautiful pictures, and anecdotes into a beautiful e-book which is now available for purchase. All the proceeds will go towards the above-mentioned causes.

Treat yourself to our Safari Dreaming e-book for £10 a copy here; and help support a good cause, while enjoying an RPS journey through Zambia, Malawi & Zimbabwe!

Areas affected needing support:

Community

Loss of income from those directly and indirectly benefiting from travel industry has resulted in:

- Widespread food insecurity.
- Lack of funds for school fees and other basics.

Wildlife

- Lack of sponsorship of conservation initiatives, especially the smaller entities with no huge international backing.
- The above impact on communities may lead to poaching for domestic consumption and for alternative income source.

Keep Safari Dreaming...with a purpose!
